The Keystone Progress Summit is the largest annual gathering of progressives in Pennsylvania. It's a time to learn, network and be inspired. With hundreds of progressive activists, leaders and elected officials in one place, it's the best way to get what you need to organize for the struggles ahead.

The Summit is actually three separate conferences held over three days.

Saturday of the Summit has the largest attendance and the most programming. This year we have 36 workshops and three general gatherings. You can find the agenda at <http://act.keystoneprogress.org/go/855?t=3&akid=3318.92989.ICgLOl> (Scroll down for the grid with workshops and panels). We have great speakers, including Rep. Tulsi Gabbard (D, HI), author Thomas Frank (author of “Listen, Liberal” and “What’s the Matter with Kansas), and Janice “Jay” Johnson, national chair of People’s Action. Here are some of the great workshops/panels:

- Organizing for power
- Fundraising for our organizing
- The Long-Term Agenda for Progressive Change
- Effective Lobbying
- Direct Action Organizing
- Building an Effective Local Organization
- And in-depth updates on issues including women’s health, immigration, state budget, fracking, abortion, public schools, labor unions.

There is also a Friday evening session on Rural Organizing.

The Keystone Progress Leadership Assembly is held on Sunday. This is a day of in-depth discussions and planning to build Keystone Progress and the Resistance in Pennsylvania. We'll choose our priority issue campaigns for 2017, elect some new KP board members and work on our 20-year plan to build a permanent progressive majority in PA. No charge, but limited to dues-paying members of Keystone Progress. Pre-registration is required. No registration at the door.

Building a Movement Politics Grassroots Campaign, held on Friday, is our training for candidates, potential candidates and campaign managers. It's led by Laurel Wales, Deputy Director of Movement Politics for People's Action. We will ground trainees in the Long Term Agenda and Movement Politics; help them understand the ins and outs of campaign planning and structure; and dig into one of three campaign program options (organizing, communications, fundraising). Participants will leave with concrete next steps to start building their campaign. Space is extremely limited. And you must pre-register, even if you've registered for the Summit. No additional cost. Register here. Do you want to help build the Resistance? Get the training and inspiration you need at the Summit. Register now before we sell out.
